

Biglietto di Benvenuto

Benvenuto! That means "Welcome!" in Italian. I like alliteration, and world languages, hence the title. And it is fitting, as we are about to embark on a journey around the world... and throughout time! And now you're thinking, "Yo, this teacher is mad corny and weird." Yes. Get used to it. This is History with Casey.

Once you have found your assigned seat, start by answering the questions based on your own thoughts to the best of your ability. You should only do the first side for now.

1. History: great class, or greatest class? Explain your answer.
2. Do you think it is important to study history? Why or why not? Come up with as many real reasons as you can.
3. If you could have any superpower, what would it be?
4. What makes you you? How do you identify yourself? You can have as many different identities as you want?

5. What do you know about your own history and culture? Do you know any languages other than English? Do you know what your last name means, or where it comes from? What about your first name?

6. What is something interesting and unique about you that others might not know? You can have more than one.

7. Have you ever binge watched a show? If so, what show or shows? If not, are there any shows you are really into?

8. "The rest of the world is not my problem." On a scale of 1-10, how much do you agree with this statement? Why?

9. What is your favorite food?

10. On the back of this paper, try to draw the most accurate world map that you can as quickly as you can.
